

Now let's see how the more complex formulas get built up from simple ones. In the first place, you can get superscripts ^(up high) and subscripts _(down low) by using `^` and `_`, as shown in the following examples: